

MOONSTONE ARTS CENTER
www.moonstoneartscenter.org
215-735-9600 • 110A S. 13th Street, Phila., PA 19107

Moonstone is now streaming most of our programs LIVE - if you cannot join us in person, go to our website: www.moonstoneartscenter.org click on the "WATCH LIVE" button on the menu bar when the event is taking place and enjoy. For more info on any individual event, go to the website, click on the "CALENDAR" button on the menu bar, click on the date and a full description will be found.

Tuesday March 6, 7pm
Josey Foo author of
A Lily Lilies ($15.95 Nighthoat Books)

Landscape and kinetic expression meet in this collection of poetry, dance choreography, and photographs

A cross-genre book of poetry, photography and notes for choreography, A Lily Lilies maps space through language, language through movement, and both space and movement through pictures in sections that move from immense spaces of the American Southwest to a dance stage in Philadelphia to the space of the self.

“Mapping across space/time, cultures and sensibilities A Lily Lilies expresses the interweaving of the poetry of dance and the dance of poetry. Beautiful work!”—Pauline Oliveros

The Lily Lilies
The swallow swallows, the lily lilies.
That’s all there is.
Horses horse and objects of definable shape
define each other.
Living beings, in a manner,
keep living.

JOSEY FOO grew up in Malaysia. She received an AB from Vassar College, an MFA from Brown University, and a JD from the University of Pennsylvania. She is the author of Endou and Tomie’s Chair and for the past ten years has worked on the Navajo Nation.